Viagra vs Cialis?

Suffering from erectile dysfunction and do not know which impotence medication to ask your doctor about. Well before you go and talk to him about it you might want to do some more research on the 2 most popular erectile dysfunction medications on the market today Viagra and Cialis. Let's see who wins when we battle out Viagra vs Cialis. You have to keep in mind that they are both PDE-5 inhibitors and that viagra is obviously much more popular than Cialis but remember that cialis is still fairly new and Viagra has been around much longer. The hardest part for most men when talking about these ED medications is which one is better viagra or cialis and which one is right for me. Only your doctor can tell you which one is right for you but we will give you some insight.

To begin with, both medications do not give you an erection as soon as you take them, PDE-5 inhibitors are used to relax the penile arteries so that more blood can flow to your penis. There has to be sexual stimulation for you to be able to get an erection, there is no magical way it will give you an erection just by taking it, you have to do your part as well and get into the mood and then these medications will push you the rest of the way. Also keep in mind doing your homework on what type of erectile dysfunction you have. Now a days allot of young men are reporting they are getting ED way to early in their lives and this is due to physiological erectile dysfunction and emotional issues, Viagra or Cialis might not be the right solution for them just yet. To do a crash course and ask yourself if you have emotional ed check out this post Is my erectile dysfunction is psychological .
