

Horney goat weed vs the blue pill

Horney goat weed vs buying Viagra

It has been all over the internet, how horny goat weed is getting the attention of men around the globe, Viagra clearly has the lead, but why? Well, men are buying viagra more than they are horny goat weed, Viagra has a huge advantage of working within 30 minutes of you taking it while horny goat weed is more like a treatment for sexual dysfunction but the most effective natural one that can be taken in tablets or liquid drops which men report to be much faster acting. Make sure to research more about viagra online and keep in mind that Viagra is a prescription medication that doctors prescribe to men who suffer from severe erectile dysfunction, horny goat weed does not need a prescription and is sold in nutrition stores all around the globe.

What is Better than Horny Goat Weed?

Zenerx - Well you can take horny goat weed by itself and it is one of the top rated herbal alternatives for Erectile dysfunction. But there is another natural treatment called zenerx which combines the best natural remedies known to man for Erectile dysfunction called Zenerx. It is an all natural treatment and man have rated it the best (check zenerx ratings here). To learn more about it see our Top 3 Herbal Alternatives page, or if you want to learn more about Zenerx or want to directly buy zenerx online click here

So what other options are there? Viagra: 1) It is a prescription medication prescribed by doctors to patients who have difficulty obtaining an erection and is very effective in most men

2) Viagra works anywhere from 25 to 60 minutes after taking it, and men have reported it working faster on an empty stomach

3) Can cause side effects in some men like: stuffy nose and flu like symptoms (only 2 mentioned but there can be more)

Horny goat weed:

1) Is an all natural herbal formula that increases sexual desire in men and helps with erection stability.

2) Can sometimes take a few days to work and you will see a difference in performance and increased sexual desire due to an enzyme called acetylcholinesterase.

3) In recent studies it has been found that 13 out of 20 men respond in a positive way to horny goat weed even men who have taken viagra in the past

4) There have been no side effects documented when using horny goat weed.

So why do men buy Viagra instead of horny goat weed that has been around for so long?

Hundreds of years even that originated in china, also known as Ying Yang Huo in the Chinese language? Well Viagra has been marketed around the world and has become a name that almost all men are familiar with and horny goat weed is less known. But the main factor is Viagra is faster acting because it contains the PDE-5 inhibitor which is the main ingredient that helps blood flow to the penis. So why should men consider horny goat weed instead of viagra? Well you be the judge, here are some facts about both horny goat weed and viagra:

What should I do if I suffer from erectile dysfunction?

First try to treat it naturally, a good tip that some men have said to work are eating watermelons. I know that sounds funny but it has proven to help blood circulation, check out this post Watermelons instead of viagra. As a secondary option, check out Horny goat weed at your local nutrition store and follow a week long treatment plan, see if you see any benefits or results in your sexual performance. For the last resort go ask your doctor about erectile dysfunction and see what he has to say, also ask him about viagra and if it is the right ED medication for you.